

REV. JAMES WRITES A PRAYER LETTER FOR YOU

Unless you are a monk—and I was for several decades (and still am in essence and practice)— your day is busy, full, often overwhelming and leaves little time for pleasurable pursuits or spiritual reflection and practice.

And it may be that you don't have time to write out your prayer when you visit this site. It may simply be easier to pray and ask the angels in your normal times of reflection and worship, or meditation. Yet, these mentally projected prayers may not be focused enough to reach into the refined levels of astral or angelic response.

Part of my prayer angel fire service is to write the prayer on your behalf, to compose it in descriptive, detailed language that is easily understood by the angel people and archangels. I have been writing prayers for nearly 30 years, and performing prayer ceremonies for an equal length of time.

Through years of meditation, I've developed a keen psychic sensitivity to the angels and higher level archangels, and understand deeply the process of written prayer and how the angel people work with these communications.

If you would like me to write the prayer for you, simply include the following points in an email or mail or fax document to me. You can be very brief. I will craft the letter in full. This applies to all the different types of letters to the angels:

- Your name and short address.
- Name and short address of important parties mentioned in the prayer.
- Your specific challenge or problem. Remember that you can write for any kind of help as long as it does not harm another being.

Any location or subject details important to your letter. For instance, the name and location of a hospital. The name and location of the hotel and schedule of a business meeting. A description of a friend's need that relates to yours.
